TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.

A Fatal Runaway on the Bellevue Road.

A Lively Dash Down the Farnam Street Hill.

A fearful accident, which will probably result fatally to one of the sufferers, occurred yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, on the Bellevue road, near the farm of Mr. E. P. Storrs, some eight miles south of this city.
It appears that Mr. J. Vickenburg, head jeweler for the firm of Edholm & Erickson, had gone out with his family and a few friends for a drive. There were in the party, beside the gentlemen, two or three ladies and several children, occupying a spring wagon. When near the scene of the accident, the horses were driven up to a fence corner, while the men went into the field to look at some cuts. While they were gone the horses took fright at something and ran away, taking a course down hill. Every one in the wagon was thrown out, but none badly injured except Mrs. Vickenburg and a little child of Mr. Aug. Nelson. The former was entangled in some way in the lines, dragged a considerable distance, and finally fell insensible at the roadside. The team ran about a quarter of a mile before they were stopped, and smashed the wagon all to pieces. Mrs. V. was picked up in an unconscious state and carried to a house near by, where a physician was summoned from Bellevue. All efforts to restore her to consciousness were unavailing and she was brought into this city about 6 o'clock and local medical aid secured. It is feared that her injuries, which are mostly internal, will prove fatal as she had not been resuscitated up to the latest accounts last night. The injuries to the child are not thought to be very serious.

ANOTHER DASH.

About four o'clock in the afternoon, yesterday, a horse driven by Mr. P. P. Shelby, ran away from the vicinity of the jail on Harney street. He came out on Farnam on the north side of the enclosure and ran down the Farnam street hill at the top of his speed, narrowly missing the destruction of a small boy who was on the route taken. At Fourteenth street the horse turned to the south and ran in at the door of the McShane barn on Harney street, where he was secured. No damage was done except the breaking of the bridle worn by the animal.

Paving Points.

The "sheet" asphalt proposed to be put down here is the same old reliable continuous surface, "Trinidad asphalt," that has stood the test of ten years of continuous heavy traffic; that never has failed, though a few of the early specimens were laid too hard and became brittle; that was sold to by the special committee ordered by congress for paving Pennsylvania avenue, Washington, in 1876; that has stood summer heat and winter cold from Boston to Washington; that has a far better record than any known pavement; that is perfectly impervious to water; that has stood a loaded truck of twenty-four tons without even a mark; that is gritty as sandpaper and not slippery; that is the standard for Washington, adopted by the most scientific experts; that stands, and invites the closest scrutiny; that is the cheapest in the long run and short run; that will be laid here by the man who has laid it in Washington since 1878; that will be a pavement to be proud of; that will be a perfect covering, and therefore healthy; that can be most easily cleaned of dust and mud brought on it; that produces no dust or mud; that can be cut and repaired as good as new. This famous pavement is composed of a six inch base of hydraulic cement concrete, a one-half inch finish of nearly pure asphalt, and finally a two inch layer of Trinidad asphalt, limestone powder and eighty per cent sharp sand. It becomes more compact by traffic and better showing "Pennsylvania avenue" so far as the appearance is concerned. This can be commenced here within thirty days after a contract is signed, laid rapidly, and will be kept in repair for five years and turned over in good condition at that time.

General Overall, who put down that on Pennsylvania avenue in 1876, says: "Nothing can be said in favor of asphalt block pavement that cannot be said of the sheet asphalt, and besides the latter possesses the advantages of greater smoothness, durability, imperviousness to water, &c."

The Washington authorities have put down a little of the block pavement each year since 1878 as an "experiment" and the last annual report says, "Lack of certainty as to the durability of this pavement having prevented its use in larger quantities. Still the men of fullest experience still regard block asphalt as 'experimental'."

If such a pavement be preferred to one of established reputation, and one without a single serious failure, well and good. We can "pay our money and take our choice." R. L. M.

ANOTHER VICTORY.

The Union Pacific Nine Gats A way With the Kansas City Club.

The Finest Game of the Season—A Dog Turns the Tide.

The Kansas City Stars came, they saw, but they did not conquer. The most exciting game of base ball of the season, thus far, and in fact the most closely contested game ever played in Omaha, was played on Saturday between the Union Pacific's and the Stars of Kansas City. It having been rumored in base ball circles for several days past that the Stars were "a way up" club, every one was on the "qui vive" to witness the game. There were about ten hundred persons on the grounds. The grand stand was filled to its utmost capacity, besides a long line of carriages on the north and west sides of the grounds.

The Stars arrived on the ground shortly after two o'clock and presented a fine appearance in white flannel suits with red stockings and belts. The game was called at three o'clock with the U. P.'s to bat. Burt Dorr, who pitches the "grape vine" for the U. P.'s, succeeded in making the first run for the Union Pacific's. The Stars then took their place at the block with the avowed intention "to do or die," and succeeded in doing to the amount of one score, made by Mr. Hutchinson, the gentlemanly pitcher of the Kansas City club. In the succeeding two innings the U. P. boys got in two more scores, while the K. C. failed to get there. One of the scores of the U. P. was made in the second inning by Dwyer, who was given him by a very intelligent U. P. dog who seized the ball in his mouth (after it had been thrown wild from second to first base) and made a dash for the carriage gate. The first baseman, however, overtook him and recaptured the ball.

In the fourth inning Dwyer and Holland went out on bases, and Hart on a fly.
In the fifth inning Dorr made another run, which was the last score made by the U. P.'s, the game now standing 4 to 1 in favor of Omaha. It continued so until the last half of the ninth innings, when House made a long fly into left field, and succeeded in bringing Rogers as well as himself to the home plate. The enthusiasm was now at fever heat, as the score stood U. P. 4 and K. C. 3, with but one man out (Hutchinson having gone out on a foul).

At this stage of the game Mr. Dorr, the U. P. pitcher, showed himself to be the best advantage, for the two succeeding batters, Furlong and Kennedy, sawed out at the bat, this gave the Union Pacifics the game by the small score of 4 to 3. A great deal of dissatisfaction was expressed at the umpiring of J. J. Philbin, and in the case of Dwyer running to first, Mr. Philbin decided that he was safe on first, while the crowd shouted "out!" "out!" "out!" from all parts of the grand stand. Mr. Hutchinson gained the sympathy of the entire audience, by motioning them to be quiet and let the Umpire's decision stand. The reporter called on the captain of the Stars at the Canfield House where they were stopping for the purpose of ascertaining how they felt toward the rulings of Mr. Philbin. In the conversation Mr. Hutchinson said that while he thought the rulings were wrong on several occasions, yet he thought that Mr. Philbin's intention was to do both sides justice. The reporter stated on behalf of the U. P. A. nine that it was to be regretted that any dissatisfaction should be felt by the Kansas City men. Mr. Hutchinson assured him that there was no dissatisfaction on their part whatever, but said that they were a little unfortunate first by the dog running off with the ball and next by one or two decisions of the umpire which (although against them) he thought were given as Mr. Philbin thought were just.

DIED.
SWENEY—In this city, July 23d, at 2:30 a. m., Justin, son of Daniel and Johannah Sweeney, aged 21 years.

Funeral will take place from the residence, corner Seventeenth and Clark streets, at 2 p. m., July 24th. All friends are invited to attend.

The death of Justin Sweeney, though expected for some time, will thrill with sorrow the many friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Sweeney. The gentle hand of death has now secured the third victim from the family. In the two former, that of Johnny and Mary, as in this instance, the children had reached the threshold of manhood and womanhood. Their character and lives were so good and true that a career of honor and usefulness in their humble spheres seemed certain, and their parents' hearts were filled with naught but happiness. But heaven willed otherwise. Mary was first chosen, to be followed at an interval of less than three years by Johnny, who was beloved by all acquaintances. This was about a year ago. The doubly bereft parents were then crazed with grief, from which they had scarcely recovered when Justin was called. This last affliction can add little to the gloom already surrounding the family hearthstone, which the hope of reunion in the Great Hereafter alone can penetrate. The sympathy of all will go out to them in their terrible affliction.

DROWNED.

A Young Swiss Boy Loses His Life in Cut-off Lake.

Another Corner's Inquest on the River Bottom.

Each day of late has brought its quota of death and disaster and yesterday was no exception. The victim on this occasion was Anton Hauser, a native of Switzerland, who has been in America about a month and in Omaha about two weeks. He was about 21 years of age and had neither kith nor kin in this country, although his family are said to be quite well to do.

Hauser had found employment at the smelting works, and was working this week on the night shift. He boarded at the corner of Ninth and Capitol avenue, and his effects, left there, are said to include quite a fine wardrobe.

Yesterday he went with two companions for a swim in one of the small lakes on the river bottom, about three-quarters of a mile north of the pump house. The three went in the water, Hauser being rather a poor swimmer, and had been in about twenty minutes when Hauser cried out to his companions, who saw that he was about to sink, and one of them went to his rescue. He grasped him by the hair of his head as he was going down, and Hauser, as is usual with drowning men, seized his would-be rescuer by the wrist, both sinking together. The latter succeeded in freeing himself and came to the surface and made his escape to land, but the unfortunate Swiss had sunk to rise no more.

Corner Jacobs was notified by telephone and went down to the scene of the occurrence about 5 o'clock. He found a crowd gathered and a search for the body going on. A man known as "Indian Jack" was out on the surface of the lake with his wife in a dug-out, feeling with his pole for the remains. At length he was successful, and plunging into the lake brought the body to the surface.

A jury was impaneled on the spot and brought in a verdict in accordance with the facts. The body was taken to the corner's rooms and will probably be buried at the county's expense.

The la've referred to is very small and the boys say that the water a little ways below the surface is cold as ice, it being probably held by springs. It is probable that young Hauser got the cramps and was unable to help himself at all, as he was found a few feet from the shore, and might otherwise have helped himself out by walking on the bottom or in some way.

An invaluable strengthening for the nerves, muscles, and digestive organs, producing strength and appetite, is Brown's Iron Bitters. 21d&w1w

RAILROAD RACKET.

A Rumored Strike on the Wabash, Decried by the Officials.

The Chicago Times says: "It has been rumored in railroad circles for some days past that a strike was imminent all along the line of the Wabash road among the running hands. The following from a Kansas City paper of the 20th inst., referring to the matter, will be read with interest: 'Ever since the new management took hold of the Wabash a spirit of economy has prevailed, and various schemes have been adopted in all the departments for the purpose of cutting down expenses. While no open meeting has resulted heretofore, there has been a heap of surliness, which has been liable to break out into open warfare at any time. For some six months past the road has been holding back more and more of the men's wages, until the last pay day, July eleventh, two months, and eleven days was retained, the men receiving only their April pay. Another cause of dissatisfaction among the running hands was the change of system of paying them. Formerly they were paid by the month, but this has been changed to the mileage system, whereby the men receive pay only for the actual number of miles run. A reporter started out, yesterday, to run the rumor down, but found the Wabash employees very reticent on the subject. They either did not know or did not want to tell anything about the rumor. Finally, however, a brakeman was found who talked on the subject. He said he had just come from a star chamber session of running hands, where it was decided that the men should strike this morning at 6 o'clock for back pay and a return to the old per diem system of remuneration. He claimed that men who formerly made from $45 to $60 per month could, under the new system only realize from $24 to $30. He further said that similar meetings had been held all along the line by men of other divisions, and that they would work in union with the men here, whereby a general strike all along the Wabash road would begin Saturday morning. He was very anxious that nothing should leak out on the subject, as the men had kept this matter secret from the managers, intending to spring it upon them suddenly. He stated that freights were moving lively just now, and as the fall freights are beginning to come in, the road cannot afford to lie idle even for a day, wherefore the men are so sanguine of success if they act in concert. With another caution to keep mum, he wound up the interview by asserting that after 6 o'clock this morning men would be seen running on the entire length of the Wabash road until the management came to terms.

"An official of the Wabash, now in Chicago, whose attention was called to the above, gave an unqualified denial to the rumor. The running hands on the line were paid, he said, at a rate entirely satisfactory to them."

It is thought, that if any movement such as reported to, had been on foot, the officers of the road, himself among the others, would have been advised of the fact ere now.

FROM THE ANTIPODES.
San Francisco Daily Alta.

W. W. Cole's New Mammoth circus made a grand parade through the streets yesterday—a more picturesque display than when the establishment visited us at the first. Its calliope sent its steam music everywhere. Last night it opened at the corner of Mission and Seventh streets, with (to quote the words of the advertisement) "a perfect flood of majestic marvels." The attendance was a crusher. There is no more popular amusement in the United States than the circus, and a good one is always sure of a crush—and coin. There are a great many new features that Cole has been smart enough to acquire during his visit to the antipodes, and these have freshened the ordinary programme to such an extent that a second or third viewing has all the charms of novelty.

Among the more notable features is the female aerial bicyclist, Mlle. Adelle d'Atalie, whose performances are marvellous. The manager has been reinforced by the addition of a white Buffalo and some Australian Kangaroos, rare Birds, a troop of South Sea Savages and Maori war dancers, who appeared in their primitive costumes, its real Arabian athletes and a thousand other new attractions. Cole will pitch his tent in Omaha, July 31.
